Dear Jane:

It sure is a privilege to write in a Sophmore's book seeing I'm only a Freshman. I'm sure glad I'm in the Girl Scouts with you. I don't know what write but that's all rite. I hope you'll excuse the mistake I made up at the beginning of this. I think this was Elsie's book. I hope you and I are in more each other's classes. Don't forget our General Science class. If you do don't forget me. I hope you have heaps of success and happiness in the future. I always remember you as a Girl Scout sister.

FOREWORD

In this Cho-Kio of 1927 we have used the Indian theme, in keeping with the Indian name Cho-Kio, which means Half-Way, typifying the completion of half our preparation for our life's work.

To portray as vividly as possible in our own meagre way the ideals, characteristics, traditions, and school life as exist at Moorhead High School,—such has been the cherished aim in the publication of this book.

We now place the result of our efforts in your hands, hoping that in some small degree, at least, we have attained that goal.

Dear Dorothy!

How did we ever quit calling you such a name — it must have been when you began taking Cod Liver Oil.

I'll never forget the time Charlotte and I got angry with you and decided to stay enemies for a week, and we really did. Even tho we did do a lot of quarreling we usually made up pretty fast.

How is our newspaper coming along? I have'nt seen the first number published yet since the L. C. H. Club started. I am still waiting to see [illegible] you put in it — I'll bet it was a good one. What you say if we investagate in your dull thinks for that unpublished paper.

I can't neglect to bring in about the time when we kids used to bring lunch out and drink Bingo with it. People must have thought we were plain Co-Co sometimes because of all our silly notions.

I never saw any kids as superstitious as you and Charlotte. As soon as I'd mention gypsies or tramps you'd make some excuse to go in the house (you know you would hate to admit you were so scared) I used to get quite a kick out of it.

I can remember one time when your mother made you a new dress, and you came out and showed it to Myrtle and me. I guess we were sort of jealous so we began calling it a baby dress. After that your mother couldn't get you to wear it again.

To ORRAIN R. HILL
whom we honor for his worth as a man among men and for his many acts of loyalty to Moorhead
High School which go unpraised,
do we respectfully dedicate this
Cho-Kio 1927.

blush, because its about a certain little boy that lives near our house, and has lived there since you and him were four years old. I sure was funny to watch you ~~[illegible]~~. — am I spilling the beans?

I could blab your whole book full of things about us fool kids, but I would only mar the pages and sour your sweet disposition. This will do for my time anyway.

By Alyce Myers

P.S. I forgot to mention the Elephant dancing we did in our paper costume.

P.S. If someone asks you who wrote all these stories, just don't tell 'em.

P.S. I must admit your Freshman class isn't as dumb as it looks.

ADMINISTRATION

Mr. A. M. Hopeman, president, Mr. S. O. Westberg, treasurer, Mr. F. J. Hill, Mr. W. B. Meland, secretary, Superintendent S. G. Reinertsen, Mr. A. O. Christensen, Mr. Edgar E. Sharp.

Board of Education

THE Moorhead Public Schools are operated today as a definite expression of the desire of the citizens of Moorhead to educate their children. They are under the direct jurisdiction of the Board of Education, a staff of men chosen at popular elections to administer the elementary and the high schools of our city.

The Board of Education consists of six men and the City Superintendent of Schools. The Board of Education passes the annual budget and outlines the general policies and future extensions of the schools, while the City Superintendent of Schools, as manager, is directly accountable to the Board of Education for the successful conduct of all departments of the schools.

The members of the Board of Education give unstintingly of their time and effort in behalf of the boys and the girls of Moorhead. Their remuneration is proportionately meager and we wish to record on this page a word of genuine and sincere thanks in behalf of the children of Moorhead for the liberal and progressive schools the Board has made available for us. The Class of 1927 appreciates their efforts!

Our Honorable Faculty

By Fay Fritch

True friends may come, true friends may go,
Dear Faculty we'll always know.
Mr. Reinertson's strong, guiding hand
We'll often miss when we've left School-Land.
Mr. Hill's dark frowns, we see them yet.
His pearly smiles we can't forget.
Under the heavens so bright and clear,
We've found no one Miss Williamson's peer.
Miss Moffitt's rings in our ears,
And like the sun, it chases tears.
Mr. Hanna's name has won great fame,
He coached our boys for Fargo game.
Miss Laramy in logic wise,
Has taught us never to tell lies.
Miss Steenerson deserves high honors,
She taught our fingers unknown wonders.
And then there's graceful Anderson,
Though late he came, our love he won.
L. Nelson's dark and flashy glance,
Still holds our souls as in a trance.
Miss Brannae never gives us peace,
Her Latin phrases spoil our ease.
Miss Telford wasn't just quite fair,
She stole our hearts and didn't care.
To Mr. Roof we are in debt,
For his tel-e-path-y secret.
H. Nelson with her boundless knowledge,
Is sweet and fair we all acknowledge.
Miss Hawkins we so sorely miss,
Our jokes she took with heavenly bliss.
Miss Newton's melodious way,
Drove care and worry far away.
Miss Hanson's passed on all our dates,
But did they help us get our mates?
Mr. Helwig, we can't pass him by,
To think of him just makes us sigh.
Ah, Pederson, don't look so stern!
We tried our best from you to learn.
Sweet sympathy we often miss,
The kind Miss Jorgenson gave us.
We view past history with a sigh,
When Mr. Gillig said, "Goodbye."
Those fatal dimples caused our fall,
Mr. Diercks thru smiling, had them all.
Miss Bunge, Oh, how we miss you;
Life is drear without your horseshoe.
Before our eyes doth a face arise,
De Booy's brown curls and merry eyes.
We that were and now are not,
Tender this rime as the best we've got.

MISS BIRDIE HANSON

Miss Birdie Hanson, secretary to the Moorhead Public Schools, has endeared herself to all those who know her. Cheerful willingness, reliability, and resourcefulness are her salient characteristics that scatter sunshine, accord, and congeniality with all those she meets.

C L A S S E S

—Fay Fritch

Oh dear, oh dear, what hurts my eyes?
Just what it is I can't surmise.
Oh now I can very clearly see,
It's only a green unripe Freshie.
Now listen little one, and do take heed,
It will soon be too late for you to recede.
Once there was a very smart cat.
Curiosity, it is said, killed off this cat.
So quickly now, turn over this sheet,
Before the same sad fate you meet.

Oh my, oh my, what is it I smell?
I can't as yet, just rightly tell.
It's a scent like rubber and nothing more.
So ho, you're caught, you young Sophomore.
Oh yes, you say, you're not at all curious,
But when you're caught, what makes you furious?
If you're seeking for information
You'll get full valuation
Not by thrusting your nose
Into the business of those who above you've rose.

Alas! Alas! What shall I do?
Something is near that I can't construe.
No outstanding color or smell has it,
Just a something so vague that it gives me a fit.
Now the only thing it could possibly be,
Is a stuck up Junior trying to see
Just what he's not supposed to read;
But Junior now list while I give you advice,
"Don't scratch you head unless you have lice."

Oh, Seniors, divine and wonderously wise,
I've something to tell you so don't shut your eyes.
(By the way, it's my hope that all the long ears
Have now grown so hot that they've left us, my dears.)
The time of our parting is now at hand,
We're all bound forth to make our stand.
So take with you my partings last,
"It's better to have loved and lost,
Than never to have loved at all."
Farewell. May no harm, you 'er befall.
Excuse last line,
Only added to rhyme.

In Memoriam

IT WAS His will to take from the class of '27 one of our beloved classmates, Gladys Sater. It is with a spirit commingled with sadness and gladness that we write these lines: sadness because we miss our dear friend

"Oh, who can forget the mild light of her smile,
Over lips moved with music and feeling the while—
The eyes' deep enchantment, dark, dreamlike, and clear,
In the glow of its gladness, the shade of its tear?"
And gladness, for we know she has joined the ranks of the immortals above.

The Evolution of The Class of '27

NOW that we are Seniors, it is a pleasure to review those days when we first entered high school as unknown, frightened (not exactly green) Freshmen, and then to note how we have trudged the rugged paths of hard study until we have finally reached our goal—Commencement, where we are finishing to begin.

During our Freshman year the class election was the first attraction in the march of events. After a brief talk by our principal about the kind of people we should elect as officers, Theodore Ingersoll was chosen as president, Thelma Erickson, vice president, Margaret Schranz, secretary, and Ethel Johnson, treasurer. Dorothy Gates made her debut in debate, while Mildred Briggs scored quite a success in declamation. Our Freshman year ended triumphantly with a picnic at Finch's farm. That event will long be remembered because of the weather,—the rain came down in torrents and the wind blew furiously.

With Sylvester Fahnlender as president, Arthur Arneson, vice president, Editha Quick, secretary, and Ethel Anderson, treasurer, we again proved to be successful in our Sophomore year. We recall with pleasure our hard time party when Louise Leiseth got married (?) twice! Our dramatic talent was displayed by Thelma Erickson, Mildred Briggs, Quinten Shiley, and Billy Stevenson when "Penrod" was presented by the Wig and Mask Society. The high school athletic teams came to the conclusion that they could no longer exist without the aid of some of our class, so we were called upon to enter athletics. We were also called upon to issue one copy of the school paper, the "Spudette," and Dorothy Gates was chosen editor; this copy was one of the best published during the year, much wit and originality being included in it. Again, a picnic concluded the year's activities. An ideal day and an ideal time was enjoyed by all on the banks of the Buffalo River.

The year of toil was at hand; but success is always gained by hard labor. We had progressed so well under the leadership of Theodore Ingersoll during our Freshman year that we again elected him as president, with Margaret Schranz, vice president, and Editha Quick and Ethel Anderson re-elected for the positions of secretary and treasurer respectively. Immediately our trend of thought was turned to making money for the annual Junior-Senior Banquet which was to be held the following spring. For this purpose we therefore staged a carnival, "The Hubble-Bubble." Everyone did his utmost in preparation and rejoiced in its success, which was largely due to Miss Hawkins. Athletic fame was brought to the class through "Ore" Hilde, "Vic" Anderson, "Swede" Anderson, "Cy" Bielfeldt, "Ted" Ingersoll, "Tommy" Thompson, and Loren Ness among the boys, and among the girls by Irene Fitzgerald, Editha Quick, "Mickey" Schranz, Corinne Dahlstrom, Rachel Ellingson, and "Gertie" Raer. But that wasn't all! Both the boys and the girls' class teams won the inter-class tournaments. In the operetta, "Will Tell," much musical ability was displayed, "Mickey" Schranz having the lead, with "Milly" Briggs and "Tommy" Thompson handling minor parts well. Excitement brewed behind the scenes! In declamation Leonard Beite proved himself to be a real orator. Last, but not least, came the much-talked-of banquet. Each of us worked hard and transformed the bare gymnasium into a veritable paradise. The beauty of the affair, which took the form of a May festival, was greatly assisted by the dainty and pretty frocks of the girls and the well-dressed young men. All those present pronounced it a most beautiful and successful banquet.

Then at last our best year of high school life dawned. We re-elected all the previous year's officers, but when "Ted" Ingersoll left school near the beginning of the year, we chose Leonard Beite to lead us. This year by virtue of being seniors, we were given more chance than ever to show our leadership and to enter the high school activities. The class, as well as the entire school, are very proud of our debate team, which won the district championship. Those on the team were Almehda Cosgrove, Dorothy Gates, and Gladys Jorgensen, with Leonard Beite as alternate,—all seniors! Due praise must be awarded to Thelma Erickson and Helmer Halvorsen who won first places in the local declamation contest among the boys and girls respectively, the former winning the gold medal. Editha Quick and Loren Ness did fine work in the operetta as did also Celestine Stribley and Helmer Halvorsen. We also have edited the "Cho Kio" under the guidance of an efficient staff led by Dorothy Gates, editor-in-chief, and Alan Dotson, business manager. The production of our Class Play, "Putting It Over" was one of the finest class plays ever presented in this high school. Miss Nelson gave great evidence of her remarkable coaching ability, while the cast of characters, "Swede" Anderson, Loren Ness, Iola Osness, Lawrence Thompson, William Wambach, Alfreda Sattre, Margaret Schranz, and Quinten Shiley, all did their best work in making the play the success which it was. In the inter-class athletics we took the lead in the girls' games, winning the tournament.

Some of our members are looking forward to graduation, especially those who are planning to enter college next year; but for those who plan to enter life's school after their high school days are over it will be a sad parting of the ways. However, for all the members of the Class of '27 there is a feeling of regret that our secondary school days are at an end, for we have truly profited by and enjoyed our four years at Moorhead High School.

The Class of '28

THE class of '28 began the first year of its high school career with an enrollment of 101 members. These beginners had the same doubts, fears, and expectations common to most freshmen, and to them was disclosed one new experience after another.

As to participation in school activities, members of this class displayed an eagerness to belong to everything, although only a limited number of freshmen were admitted in most cases. The girls lost to the Juniors in the Class Basket Ball Tournament, and the boys showed their undeniable ability in the final game with the Seniors.

During the last week of school we had a class picnic on the banks of the Buffalo River, one mile from Glyndon. This event will be long remembered by many, especially those who rode in open trucks during the downpour of rain.

Then came final examinations, and the first year of our class ended in a very creditable manner when it was finally known that there were only a few "flunks."

With 93 members we began our sophomore year. That year we were very well represented in the multifarious school activities, chief among them were: Boys' Music Club, Girls' Double Sextette, Declamation Contest, Pin Pan Club, and the Wig and Mask Society.

At the close of the second year in high school we also had a picnic. This time it was held at Nokken's farm. Undaunted by the presence of a sun-shower, which lasted throughout the entire picnic, and with only a few minor mishaps, we had a very enjoyable time.

With our junior year came the distinction of being recognized as upperclassmen. There are at present 93 students enrolled in the class. We have set out with a determination to succeed, and many are enrolled with more than four subjects. We have clearly shown that we realize some of the more serious aspects of school life, and now have even a larger representation than in previous years in all the extra curriculum activities.

The chief event of the year was the Junior and Senior Banquet, at which the Juniors were hosts to the Seniors. A fine program was given and the evening was most enjoyably spent.

Due credit must be given to our class advisors, Miss Hawkins, Miss H. Nelson, Mr. Diericks, and Mr. Hanna, who, through their untiring efforts and interest in the class, have helped so much to make our Junior year such a great success.

The Class of '29

ONCE upon a time, not so very long ago, the world was surprised to notice how many intelligent students graduated from Kindergarden. The one ranking the highest in marks and deportment was George Anderson, with Mabel Halverson a close second.

The grades passed by rapidly. We all were our own bosses then. We could get into the school building any time we wanted to before nine o'clock in the morning, and leave any time we wanted to after a quarter to four. The most important feature of the grades was a notable sewing class called "Thumbs and Thimbles," organized by James Netzer for the highest society of old maids.

Junior High! Oh, can we ever forget the death of recesses? I doubt it very much when I notice Ruth Berquist taking a recess in the middle of an English speech on "My Most Exciting Experience." None of us studied until State Boards came in the eighth grade. Then Frederick Dommer was leading a campaign against bad habits (studying for example), so we decided to co-operate with him. The campaign was successful, and our last minute studying of no avail, so we all flunked the State Boards.

At the beginning of the year 1925 there appeared at the office of Moorhead High School for registration many persons of fame, as Rolfe Askegaard, the "speedometer," Louis Griffie, the "draw-back," Grace Anderson, the short "high jumper, "Cocoa" and "Coffee" Rue, the breakfast sisters, and many other future presidents and great stars. We all became acquainted with Mr. Hill the first six weeks when we stayed the eighth period. There were so many rules that it kept us busy trying to remember which came next. We couldn't use our books for anything whatsoever because the faculty was afraid we would lose them. We had to stand up while speaking to avoid curvature of the spine. No more than one could use the dictionary at a time because Miss Telford was afraid we would increase our vocabularies too rapidly.

While Freshmen we had a Hallowe'en party, and Carl Johnson "shocked" us all by letting us touch a knife and a fork. About seven months after this we had a picnic out at a deserted farm-house. The house contained a bottle half full of "moonshine," which was donated regretfully to Mr. Shuren, and the barn contained a cow which blew its horn so loudly that Clarice Wollan hasn't got over the shock yet. This ended the first year of our high school career, and we were greatly indebted to Rudolph Christianson, the president, for not steering us into a tree.

The Sophomore year started out with Lawrence Knauff at the wheel, Walter Sogn, back seat driver, Ethel Miller at the horn, Verna Arneson holding the strings of the pocket-book, and all of us flying the gold and blue banner of the Sophomores. We are still running on reverse except for one stop where Ethel got off and Sarah got on to keep the "Lizzy" balanced. There was one hundred per cent of Sophomores out to the Fargo and Moorhead game. They yelled so loudly that the referee couldn't sleep, and therefore they were the cause of Miss Basket Ball deciding in favor of Moorhead instead of Fargo. Preceding this was a Hard-Time Party with a very good program, due to the fact that Mr. Helwig was able to win out as program director.

In spite of the good looking teachers we have many troubles. The greatest one is not to forget to remember to leave our locker open so that Mr. Hill can lock it. Another one is losing and finding things. Just the other day Paul Euren lost his only brain cell that was in working order. There is a suspicion that Ingvie Swenson has it, but this has not as yet been proved.

In looking forward to our Junior year we're very much encouraged by hearing Mr. Roof say that the first hundred years are the hardest.

The Junior High School

IN OUR Junior High School here of nearly 200 students, the foundations for increased responsibility and initiative are laid. The organization of the eighth grade as a Student Council with monitors in the corridors and study hall has proved an opportunity for self control which will later manifest itself to good purposes in the Senior High School, it is hoped.

This year, the work of the Moorhead Junior High School has not been greatly different than that of other years past. A few of their activities may perhaps deserve mention here.

During Education Week in November, an art exhibit of one hundred fifty good prints of foreign and American painters was on display in the High School gymnasium. In connection with the Education Week program a two act farce, "Art, Where Art Thou?" was given by pupils in the seventh and eighth grades and directed by Miss Lucy Sheffield, Art Supervisor. The proceeds were used to purchase three framed pictures for the department, "The Phantom Canyon," by Westley, "The Royal George," by Parrish, and "The End of the Trail," by Amick.

The two grades each enjoyed a Christmas frolic in the gymnasium on Thursday, December 16. A Christmas tree, stunts, games, and refreshments were the features of the parties. Gifts were also exchanged.

Vitalizing the work of the Junior High School has been done quite successfully this year by making the work practical. In History, the eighth grade conducted a typical city election on the same day as the city itself. A mayor was elected to serve as president of the class and aldermen were chosen from their own wards to act as monitors.

While studying banking in eighth grade Arithmetic, Mr. A. H. Costain, of the First National Bank, gave a general talk on that subject during January.

Monthly school newspapers are issued in the eighth grade English class by each division of that grade. The editors correct all their own copy, an art editor designs an appropriate cover, suitable cartoons are drawn by some member of the class, school social, sport, and world news articles are included, all of which serve to make the paper a model of our more pretentious city daily papers.

The seventh grade has not been slow in adding to the life of the Junior High. The class worked earnestly, under Miss Evalin Myller, in making the Christmas Seal Sale "go over the top" financially. Miss Bertha Rustvold was in charge of the eighth grade seal sale. The seventh and eighth grades both took part in the oratorio, "The Holy City," by Alfred R. Gaul, under the direction of Miss Elbeda Peterson, which was given this spring together with the Senior High School.

The mutual benefits of the pleasures of the annual Junior High School picnic are counted as one of the crowning events of the school year. It takes place in Moorhead Park on one of the latter days of May.

The busy life of the Junior High School does not crowd out the little courtesies of everyday living. The lessons taught in Citizenship classes seem to carry out beyond the immediate classroom. It is the sincere hope that when these students are passed on into the more serious life of the Senior High School, that the aims of the Junior High School shall have been of avail.

Debate

DEBATING is given at Moorhead High School because the experience it offers is invaluable to the student. A chief benefit derived from debating is the knowledge gained from a study of questions of vital and practical interest. It is not only the acquiring of information that offers the student an opportunity of mental discipline, but also the clear, original thing and the logical reasoning that are effective means of mental training. A debater has to study hard and think deeply, for he must have something of real value to say, and have a sincere motive for saying it. Moreover, he must say it clearly, correctly, and effectively, gaining thereby language discipline and training in public speaking.

The question chosen by the Minnesota Debating League, of which Moorhead High School is a member, for debate this year was "Resolved: That a Federal Department of Education should be established with a secretary in the President's cabinet."

Our debaters, under the able coaching of Miss Bunge, did very well in handling that question. They have to their credit four unanimous decisions, having defeated Ada, Barnesville, Pelican Rapids, and Crookston. They carry the honors of district championship for 1927. In the fifth rounds Moorhead was eliminated from the contest by Osakis with a 2–1 decision.

Much credit for the success of the team is due to Miss Bunge who gave unstintingly of her time and efforts to our debaters.

Declamation

OBVIOUSLY enough, declamation affords training in public speaking. By appearing in public several times and by getting helpful suggestions while preparing for programs and contests, a person learns something about the art of effective delivery, his attention being called to such necessary things as force, directness, ease, poise, self control, correct pronunciation, and clear enunciation.

Because of its value declamation as always been considered one of the chief activities at Moorhead High School. Creditable work along that line has been done by the participants.

This year the preliminary started with the Dosland Contest February 23. Mr. Dosland has for many years presented two awards to the winners of the contest—a silver and a gold medal. Thelma Erickson won the gold medal and first place in the dramatic section with her reading, "The Soul of the Violin." Bernice Hanson received the silver medal and first place in the humorous section. Helmer Halvorson delivered the oration, "The Strenuous Life" and received first place in the Dosland Contest and third place in the sub-district contest. Bernice Hanson and Thelma Erickson both received first place in the humorous and dramatic sections, respectively, at the sub-district contest which was held at Glyndon. The District Contest was held at Crookston on Friday, March 18, and Bernice Hanson received first place in the humorous section and Thelma Erickson, third. At the Regional Contest Bernice tied for first place and received second.

Much credit is due to the Misses Lillian Nelson and Helen Moffitt who coached the declaimers.

Wig and Mask Society

THE Wig and Mask is a dramatic society and is composed of students who have shown that they have ability and interest in this line.

The avowed purpose of this organization is to give each of its members an opportunity to appear in public programs at least once during the school year.

It has tried to create a love of good plays through the presentation of many one act plays at its regular monthly meetings. A unique feature of work this year was the presentation of one act plays coached by the members of the club; this was a practical demonstration of what can be done by amateurs.

Mrs. Hutchinson, Mr. Arvold, and Hon. Smith Stimmil, all of Fargo, addressed the club on pertinent subjects.

This year the club gave a series of three one act plays, "The Romancers," "The Turtle Doves," and "Where But In America."

The officers of the Wig and Mask are as follows: Ward Remington, president, Margaret Schranz, vice president, Bernice Hansen, secretary, Louise Leiseth, treasurer.

The advisors are Miss Moffet, Miss L. Nelson, and Mr. Helwig.

The Wig and Mask Plays

INSTEAD of the usual three act play, the Wig and Mask chose to present three one-act plays. Throughout the year the club has made a study of various phases of the one-act play and presented these as the consummation of the year's work.

One of the plays chosen was "The Turtle Dove," a charming Chinese play. This was acted in the Chinese manner, without stage setting except for the back drop which represented a willow plate. Before the curtain was drawn for the play, a delightful Chinese dance under the direction of Margaret Schranz put the audience in a receptive mood.

Between plays Cordelia Blount played several piano solos which were well received.

The second play, "Where But in America?" is the modern play dealing with real estate and the servant problem.

After the second play the entire producing cast was presented to the audience. This was fitting recognition of the hard and tiresome work done by other members of the club that the plays might succeed.

"The Romancers" by Edmund Rostand, is a play of eighteenth century France. The lovely costumes and appropriate scenery aided much in bringing out the spirit of the plays.

The Senior Class Play

"PUTTING it Over," a dramatic comedy in three acts, was the play put on by this year's graduating class for the annual Senior Class production. The Seniors handled their parts with great effectiveness, and under the very able direction of Miss L. Nelson, the play was put over with nothing to be desired in staging and entertainment. A synopsis of the story is as follows:

Browne, engineer in charge of a big irrigation dam project, disappears when it seems the construction will be ruined by graft and inefficiency. Stewart, from whom Browne stole the plans and who looks exactly like Browne, is down and out, and breaks into Browne's apartment to rob it. Every one mistakes Stewart for Browne, and when he finds what a mess the first engineer has made of the job, Stewart determines to continue the masquerade and see it through. He battles with graft, nearly loses the girl he loves, and has a thoroughly exciting time, but is finally successful in putting it over.

The cast is greatly indebted to Miss Lillian Nelson for her patience and skill in enabling them to portray their roles to the best of their ability.

Duo Art Music Club

THE Duo Art Music Club was started in 1926 by Miss Margaret Newton. Its purpose is to promote the appreciation of better music, and to be of community service in a musical way.

This year the club rendered programs at the following occasions: Declamatory Contest at Glyndon, Moorhead Club, School Masters' Banquet, May day Festival for Moorhead Music Club, twice for programs at Moorhead High School, Graduation and Baccalaureate exercises, and a benefit concert at Glyndon.

The members of the Duo Art Music Club are chosen by Miss Newton at the beginning of the school year. This year forty-three girls were accepted for membership.

Much appreciation is extended to Miss Newton by the entire membership of the club for her untiring efforts in its behalf.

Boys' Music Club

THE Boys' Music Club of Moorhead High School, consisting of forty members, is a continuation of the Boys' Glee Club which was founded in the early years of our school. The club has been under the direction of Miss Margaret Newton, instructor of music in the Moorhead Public Schools.

This chorus of male voices sang out of town twice this year, once at Glyndon and once at the Dilworth Community Club.

April 5th the Boys' Music Club took part in the "Holy City," a Cantata presented by the Chorus of Moorhead High School and outside voices. The boys also sang at the Commencement exercises and the Baccalaureate service.

The Music Club has taken part in many school activities; especially did it arrange for a program for National Music Week.

The interest displayed in singing by the boys is due largely to Miss Margaret Newton's ability as director.

Top row: Ruth Sharp, Ruth Marr, Edith Wagner, Sarah Chaffee, Charlotte Hollands, Ione Larson, Louise Morrow, Margaret Ramsey, Lucia Askegaard, Roseltha Nesheim, Editha Quick.

Piano Club

IN THE fall of 1927 Miss Newton organized the Piano Club, an organization exclusive to those who can play the piano. All the charter members are girls.

The first Thursday of every month the club meets at the home of some member of the club. It is at these monthly meetings that the members display their musical talent, and several splendid compositions have been rendered. After the program a social hour is the order of the evening.

The officers of the Piano Club are as follows:

PRESIDENT - - - -	Margaret Schranz
VICE PRESIDENT - - - - - -	Dorothy Ness
SECRETARY - - - - - - -	Hazel Redman
RECORDING SECRETARY - - -	Paula Verne

The members are grateful to Miss Newton for the interest she takes in the Piano Club.

Orchestra

THE Orchestra this year is the largest and best that the school has ever had. It has played at several of the school programs. The violin section of the orchestra assisted with the presentation of "The Holy City." The entire orchestra played at the Class play and Class Day exercises.

The Holy City

A MIXED chorus, consisting of approximately 300 members from the Junior and Senior High Schools, presented a sacred Cantata "The Holy City," by A. R. Gaul, Tuesday evening, April 5, in the High School Auditorium.

Much of the finished character of this Cantata was due to our local artists who assisted the main chorus. The soloists were Mrs. Askegaard, Miss Ethel Mortenson, Mrs. Fred Brophy, Mr. Daniel Preston, and Mr. Walter Wright. The second choir consisted of the Moorhead Choral Group and the piano accompanists were Dorothy Ness and Muriel Houglum.

The Holy City is the first musical presentation of its kind to be given at Moorhead High School. Much credit is deserved by Miss Margaret Newton for the production of this great undertaking, and we hope that the success of "The Holy City" will prompt her to attempt a similar program in the future.

Dearest Dore.

Well its quite hard to write when you've got nothing to write about. Poor Norma just got knocked poor thing. Remember how funky I was this year when I could sit up on the bleachers and watch you kids struggle over new exercises. Hope the "Soph" of next year will have as much fun as the "freshman" did this year.

Don't forget Carroll's name (Georgie) and Alice's pet name was Bert.

Well if you don't remember anything else Remember me.

The Wishing Well

"THE Wishing Well," a musical comedy of old Ireland, was given February first as the annual production of the Music class of Moorhead High School under the direction of Miss Newton.

Loren Ness, Francis Webster, and Editha Quick took the leading roles. Other members of the cast were Basil Shipp, William Wambach, Celestine Stribley, Helmer Halvorsen, Fontella Berkey, Evelyn Fridlund, Roseltha Neshiem, Leslie Gronbeck, and Iola Osness.

Members of the choruses were Ferdinand Anderson, Oscar Olsgaard, John Hagen, Vernie Lindblom, Victor Anderson, Leonard Beite, James Herlick, Albert Lerberg, Truman Larson, Corinne Dahlstrom, Ruth Eklund, Irene Fitzgerald, Katherine Grant, Bertha Grier, Helga Lindbloom, Olive Yonker, and Ferryl Garvin.

Ferdinand Anderson was Stage Manager, and Leonard Beite acted as Business Manager. The story of the play is as follows:

Lady Mary Donnell is the last of an old, but impoverished family. She lives with her small niece, Noreen, at the ancestral home of the Donnells. Because of financial reverses, Lady Mary has been forced to place a mortgage on her estate, and is having difficulty in meeting the payments.

Such is the situation when Noreen makes friends with a gentleman vagabond whom she finds asleep in the garden. The stranger gives his name as Terence O'More. He is in search of lodgings, and Lady Mary decides to accommodate him because of her need for money.

Adjoining the Donnell acres in Shereton Castle, the property of Squire Baxby who wishes to marry Lady Mary. Mary believes him to be rich, but he is really nearly bankrupt because of gambling debts. Thinking to trade in on Mary's ignorance of business matters, and make a few hundred pounds on the deal, he persuades her to sign a second mortgage. Mary, however, believes she is merely signing the first mortgage over to him. She trusts him to complete the transaction with her lawyer and gives Baxby the interest money which is due that day. She believes that her financial worries are over for a while.

Terence and Squire Baxby have taken a lively dislike to each other, and with the help of Darby, one of Mary's servants, a message is sent to Felix O'Gill, a Dublin attorney, with a note from Terence to watch Baxby and also send to Terence by his messenger two hundred pounds.

In the meantime, Mary has invited friends and neighbors in to meet Terence. Among the guests is Maureen McGibney who recognizes Terence as Sir Terence O'Grady. She cleverly makes Terence admit he is in love with Lady Mary, and as she has designs on Terence herself, she plans to break up the attachment.

Terence declares his love to Mary, a love she returns, but in accordance with Maureen's plan, her friend Molly O'Toule reveals Terence's real identity to Mary, telling he rthat he is betrothed to Maureen, and this his plan in coming to Falls Park Manor, was that he might purchase it for his future bride. Mary is heartbroken, and to make matters worse, Felix Murphy arrives to collect the interest money, and Mary learns of Squire Baxby's duplicity. His scheme to raise money on the second mortgage which she had unwittingly signed, is now apparent to her, and since she cannot meet the payments, she realizes she has lost Falls Park Manor.

Terence tells Noreen of the old wishing well in the garden. She wishes for a fortune in order to help her aunt Mary pay Felix Murphy. Terence manages to hide a package of bank notes in the well, so that Noreen finds them. Felix Murphy is paid, and Falls Park Manor is saved for Lady Mary.

But believing as she does that Terence has been amusing himself at her expense, and feeling that Falls Park Manor is really his, Mary decides to leave, and is in the act of doing so, when Terence insists on being allowed to make an explanation. The difficulties straightened out, Mary learns of the falsity of Molly O'Toule's story, and all ends happily.

GIRLS' EXECUTIVE BOARD

Top row: Margaret Schranz, Dorothy Gates, Hazel Lorimer, Corinne Dahlstrom, Louise Leiseth, Leone Ward, Ethel Anderson.
Bottom Row: Carmen Hauser, Olive Skauge, Miss Williamson, Mildred Briggs, Miss Brannae, Rhoda Marr, Lois Brown.

Girl Boosters

DURING its brief two years' existence, the Girl Boosters has proved to be of great value to Moorhead High School. This club has done much to broaden the lives of its members.

The members of the organization are all the girls who are enrolled in the high school. It has the usual four offcers. This year the President is Mildred Briggs, the Vice President is Olive Skauge, the Treasurer is Rhoda Marr, and the Secretary is Lois Brown. The entire membership is alphabetically divided into eight groups, each with its own four officers and a faculty advisor. The club is governed by what is known as the Executive Board, consisting of the eight group presidents, the officers of the organization as a whole, and the two chief advisors, Miss Brannae and Miss Williamson.

Its purpose and aim is best expressed by the motto "A sound mind in a sound body." Individual efforts along lines of service, health, knowledge, and spiritual development, tending to reach the goal set forth in the motto, is recognized by the awarding of a pin.

As a material manifestation of its work in the school, the club last year presented it with a large mirror.

Special recognition is due to Miss Brannae for the inestimable value of her initiative and influence in the development of the club.

First Row: Bernice Onstine, Pearl Miller, Margaret Hilde, Elsie Iverson, Rhoda Marr, Celestine Stribley, Dorothy Kossick, Carmen Hauser, Olga Bertleson, Marie Johnson, Esther Altenbernd.
Second Row: Gladys Solberg, Echo Lodgaard, Marguerite Colliton, Cordelia Blount, Louise Leiseth, Irene Fitzgerald, Laura Haugstead, Agnes Bertleson, Hazel Lorimer, Evelyn Hanson, Editha Quick, Ruth Eklund, Frances Flaten.
Third Row: Evelyn Johnson, Evelyn Fridlund, Olive Skauge, Dorothy Gates, Almehda Cosgrove, Miss Hawkins, Miss De Booy, Maxine Roberts, La Verne Johnson, Wilma Quick, Bertha Grier, Edna Hanson.

Pin Pan Club

THE Pin Pan Club is a Home Economics organization. It is composed of girls who are taking or have taken Home Economics and receive an average of eighty-five in that subject. The purpose of this club is to encourage the girls to become more interested in the problems of a home maker and also in community interests.

The club has two meetings each month: on the evening of the first Tuesday of every month, a social meeting, and on the third Tuesday of every month, a business meeting.

Each year the club aims to give something to the department, and this year it bought curtains for the dining room.

The Pin Pan Club is a member of the Minnesota Economics Association and also of the National Economics Association.

Miss Gladys Hawkins and Miss Adrie de Booy are the advisors of the club, and the officers are as follows: Almehda Cosgrove, president, Maxine Roberts, vice-president, Irene Fitzgerald, secretary and Adele Mattson, treasurer.

Garden Club

THE Moorhead Junior Garden Club was organized in the spring of 1925, with a little over 100 members. Membership is made up of boys and girls from the fifth grade up to the high school.

The requirements for membership in this club are that the member must plant and care for a garden of his own. These gardens have ranged in size from 200 square feet up to several acres in one case. The teacher of agriculture in the schools, who is hired for the entire twelve months, supervises these projects through the entire growing season. During this time meetings are held monthly. There is a garden show which has been held annually, during the first week in September. Prizes and medals are given at the end of the season for successful work.

Our garden club has ranked among the best in the state. Ever since its organization in 1925 it has ranked first in the district, comprising the northwest quarter of Minnesota. And one year it was judged the best club in the state. In recognition of these winnings our club has the privilege, annually, of sending at least three of its members to the State Horticultural Society's Annual Show in St. Paul. Also, our best gardener in the club is awarded a free excursion to the Minnesota State Fair. Last year George Probstfield was given this honor and this year it goes to Fred Poehls, with Randolph Sandie as the alternate.

Poultry Club

There is also a Junior Poultry Club organized in the school. It has about twenty members and is operated on about the same plan as the Garden Club, which means that in each case the boy or the girl must take over the responsibility of the project and be the owner of the chickens.

ATHLETICS

COACH HANNA

A man of rare ability in the field of athletics with a winning personality certainly spells for success. Such a man is Coach Glen A. Hanna and such success has been Moorhead's since he came to our high school.

Mr. Hanna is able to draw the best out of those under his training and he thereby gets co-operation of his players with him and among themselves.

The two years that Coach Hanna has been here he has produced championship teams which have defeated our keenest rivals, Fargo, in both major sports and have established remarkable records known throughout this part of the state.

Our coach has proved indispensable to athletic interests of this school, and it is hoped that Mr. Hanna will return to keep up the good work which he has so faithfully done.

MR. DIERCKS

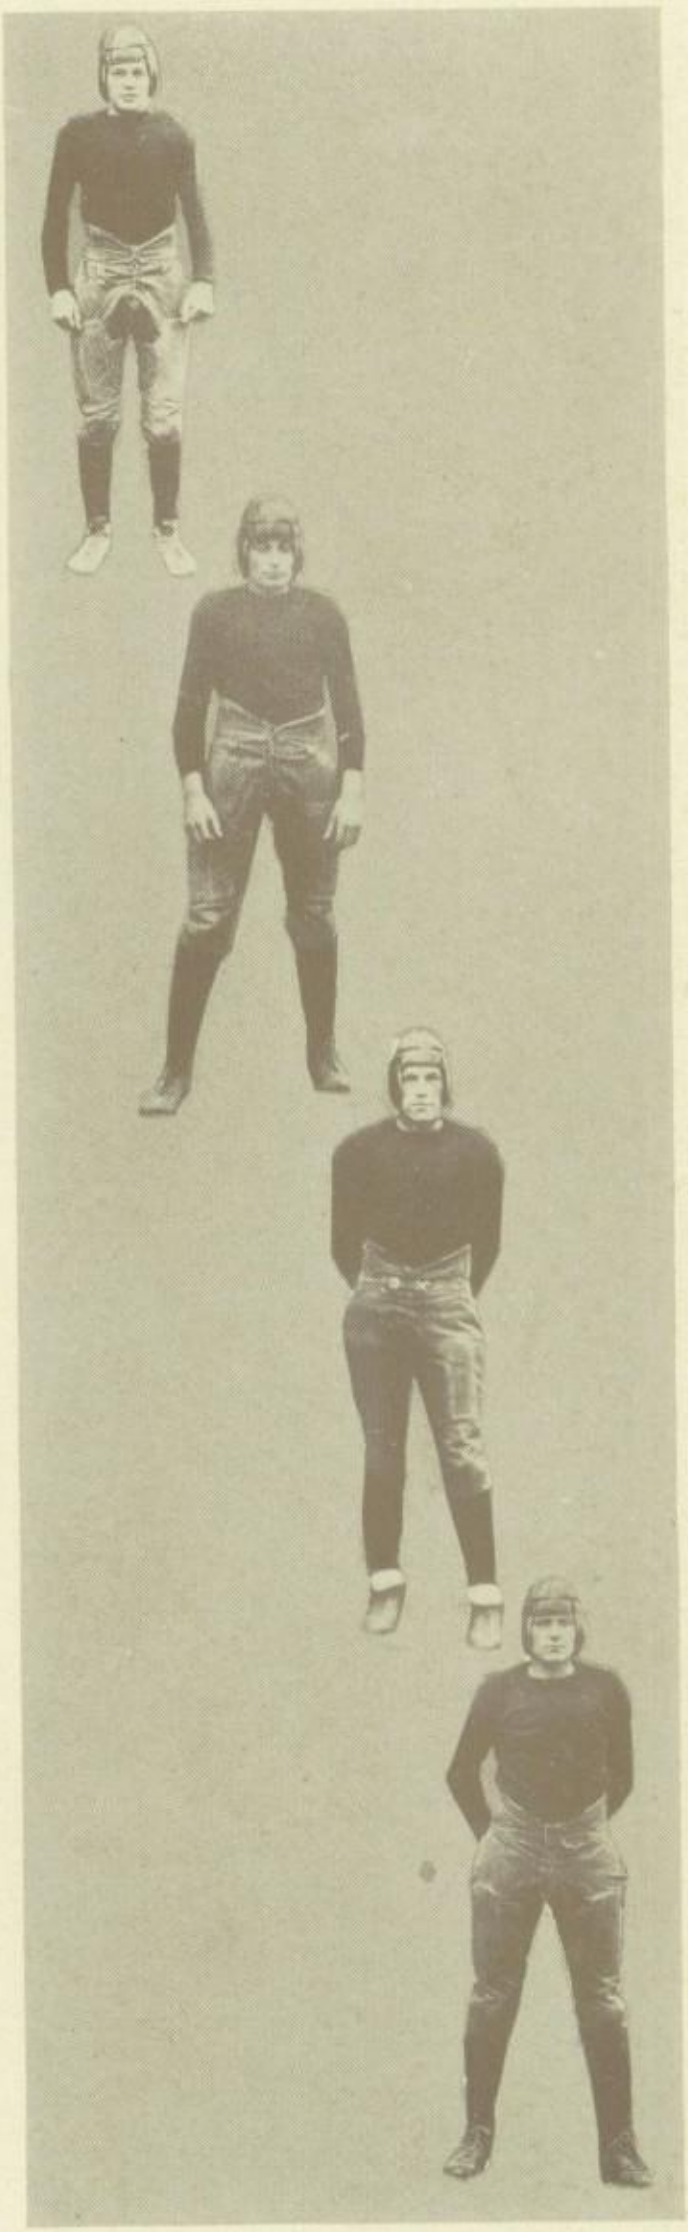
As financial manager and assistant coach, Mr. Diercks has been of inestimable worth. His able assistance with the Football and Basketball squads contributed greatly to their success, and his hearty cooperation was sincerely appreciated by both team and coach. Thanks to his efforts, finances are on a sound footing and a neat surplus in the treasury.

We hope Mr. Diercks will be with Moorhead High again next year to continue his successful administration of athletic interests, and to again assist with the coaching.

BOB MALVEY

"Worm" was again the mascot of all athletic squads of M. H. S. He spent many hours looking after the players' wants, taking care of the equipment, and distributing advertisements. He gave willingly of his time, and his good nature and humor did much to keep up the morale of the team during the practice grind and on various trips taken by them.

As a mascot he was a "howling" success, and we look forward to his being with the team next year.



LOREN NESS

Loren was another fighting guard. Although he was inexperienced he got off to a good start and always put up a determined fight. Loren soon got on to the tricks of the game and used them to good advantage wherever he could. He developed into a good tackler on defense and was equally good on offense. Loren leaves the squad through graduation in the spring.

LOUIS GRIFFEE

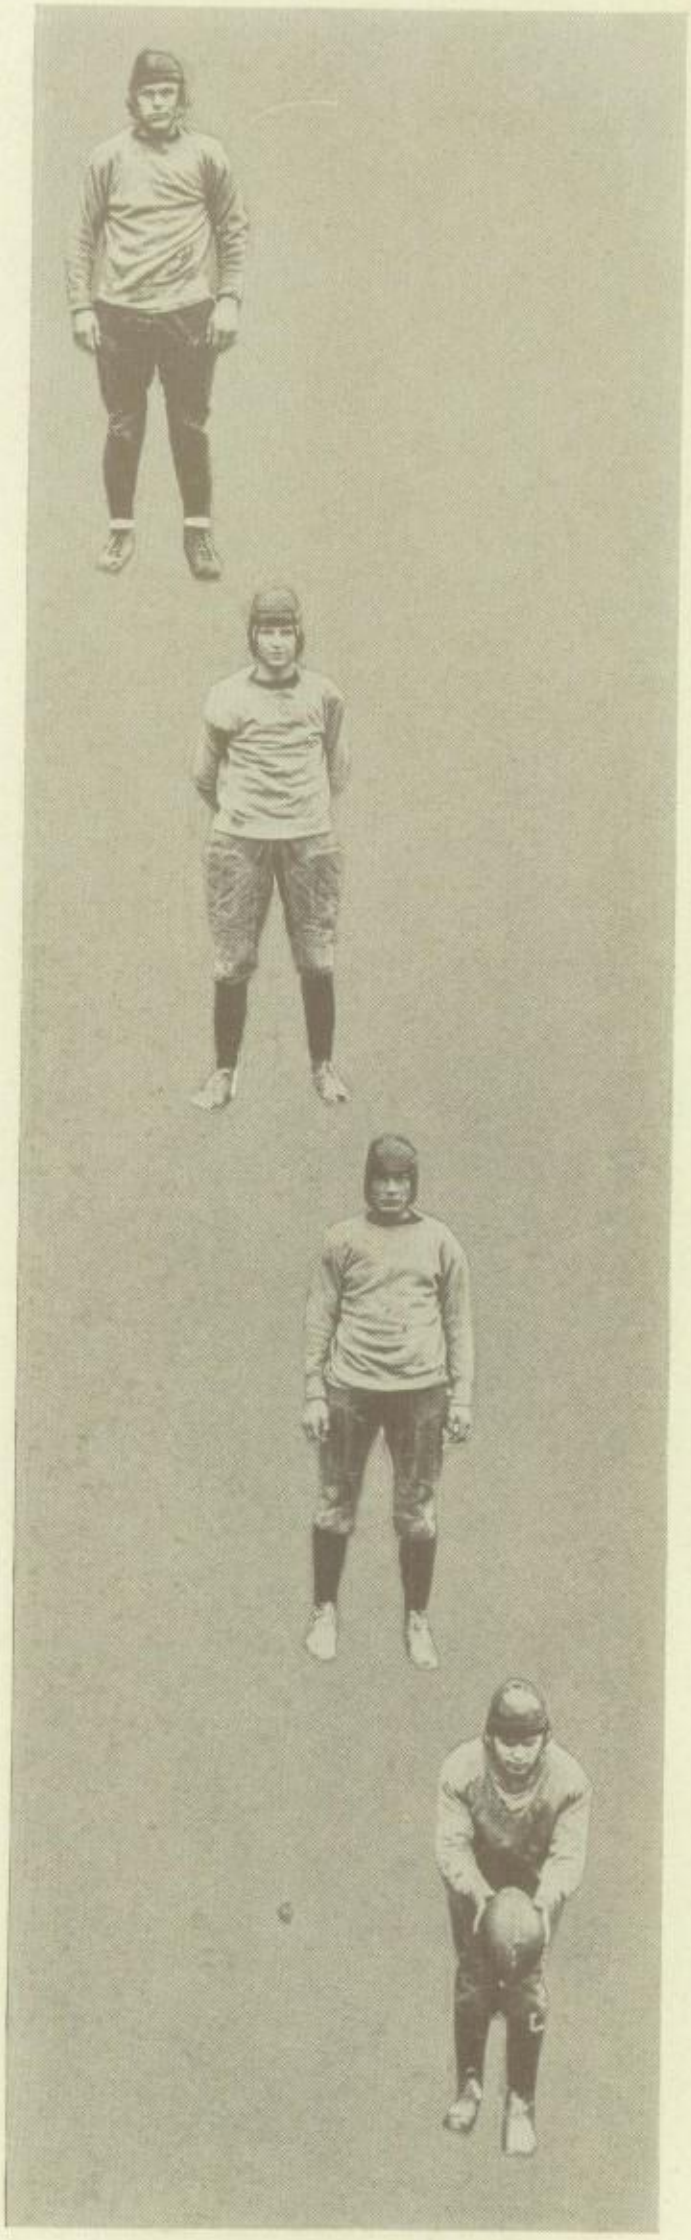
Louis, though out of the game most of the season due to a sprained ankle, filled either an end or half-back position in a worthy manner. His speed helped him in going down under punts as well as in carrying the ball. Louis has two more years to play so more will be looked for from him.

BILLY WAGNER

"Bill" played tackle and was one reason why few gains were made on his side of the line. He smeared up many a play that came his way and helped open up holes for our own backs to drive through

OBERT NELSON

"Ob," our big junior guard was in there fighting every minute of the game. Although he was our biggest man he was often the first man down the field on the kick-off and he was everywhere on defense. His smashing tackles did much to take the fight out of the opponents and his was a hard position for them to make through. Ob should look better than ever next year.



LAWRENCE THOMPSON

"Tommy" filled in equally well at guard or tackle and was at times called on to fill a vacancy in the backfield. His speed, weight, drive, and grim determination combined with his fighting spirit made him a valuable man. He has played his last year for Moorhead High.

SWEDE ANDERSON

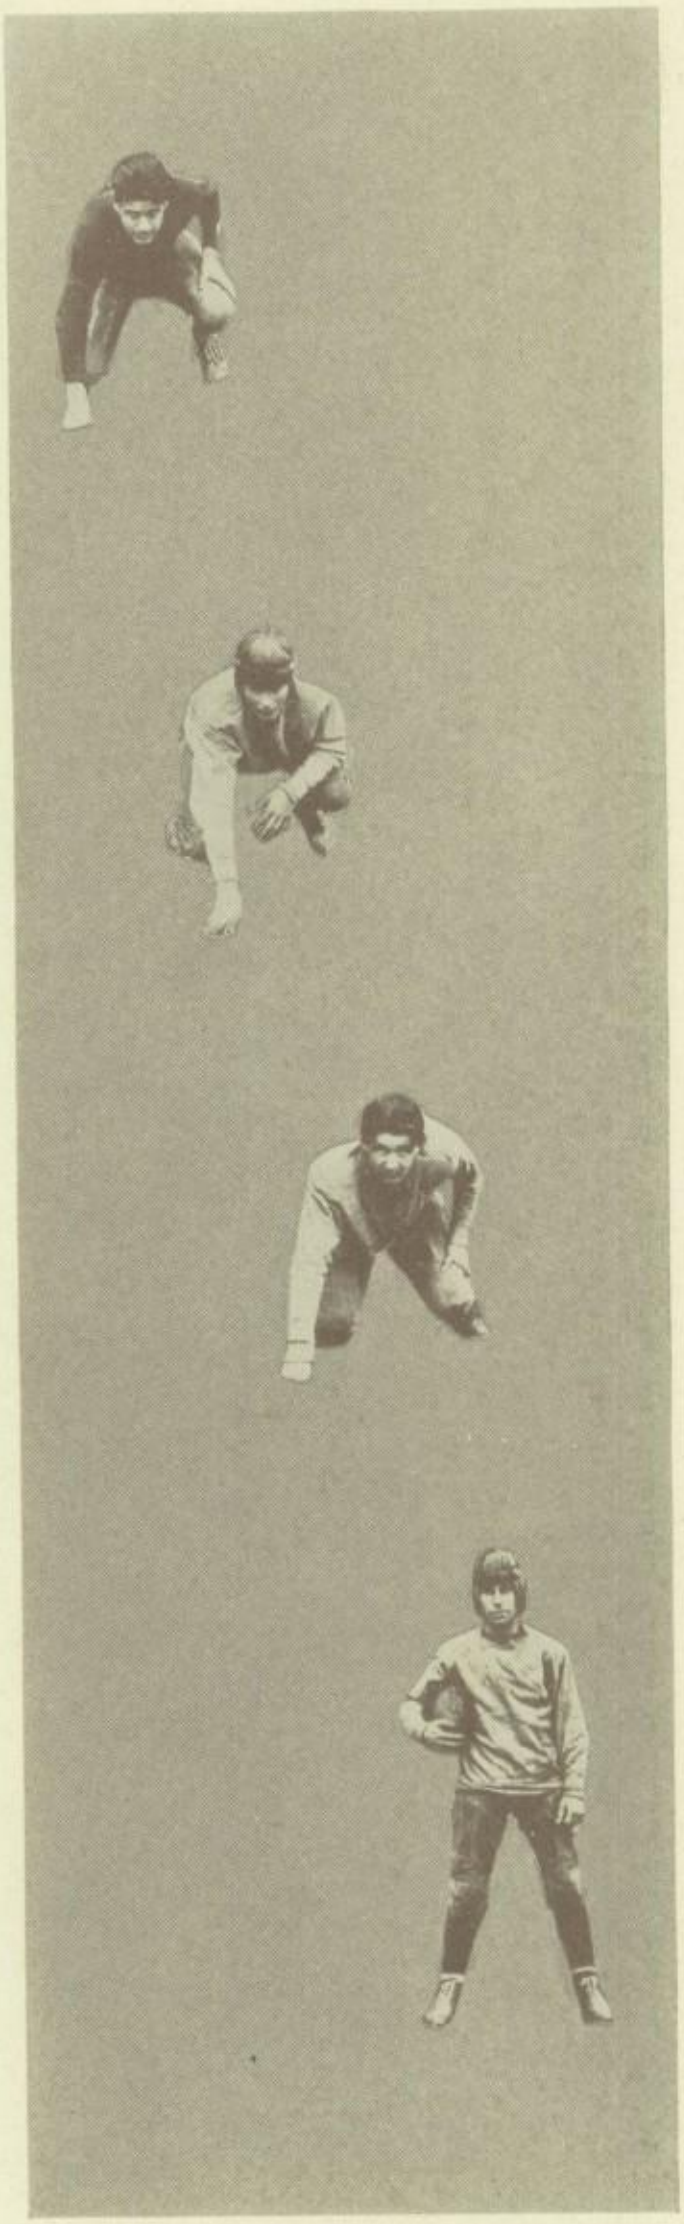
Swede, playing his second year at center, was a bulwark on offense and defense. His accurate passes were easily handled by the backs and his deadly tackling stopped many a gain. Altho handicapped by injuries the larger part of the season, Swede always played a cool, heavy, hard-fighting game, and was a large factor in the smooth working of the team. Swede's berth will be hard to fill next year, but our loss is another's gain. We expect much of Swede in college athletics.

CY BIELFELDT

It was the spirit of "knock 'em down and let 'em be" with Cy. He always displayed a clean, hard-fighting game. Cy took less than a little from his opponents, always holding his own at a tackle berth and constantly outplaying his man. Cy used his speed and endurance, always to the best advantage, and was constantly in smearing up what seemed to be a grand play. Cy will be lost to the team thru graduation next year.

ORE HILDE

"Ore" stands out as the most dazzling, ground gaining fullback in Moorhead's history. Tremendous speed, a mighty toe, exceptional passing ability, combined with football sense galore, made Hilde a real triple threat man. His speed, drive, and ability to find holes made him a demon in advancing the ball; his tackling was deadly, and his return of punts sensational. Ore's playing was always an inspiration to his team-mates, and his brilliant play will be missed next year.



RUTS CHRISTIANSON

Ruts was one of our Sophomore lettermen. He proved to be very capable as a substitute in the backfield by always doing his best and fighting his hardest. He developed into an accurate kicker and passer as well as a speedy, hard-hitting ball carrier. Ruts will be a very valuable man to the backfield next year and we expect him to grab a regular backfield post.

CLIFF HALMRAST

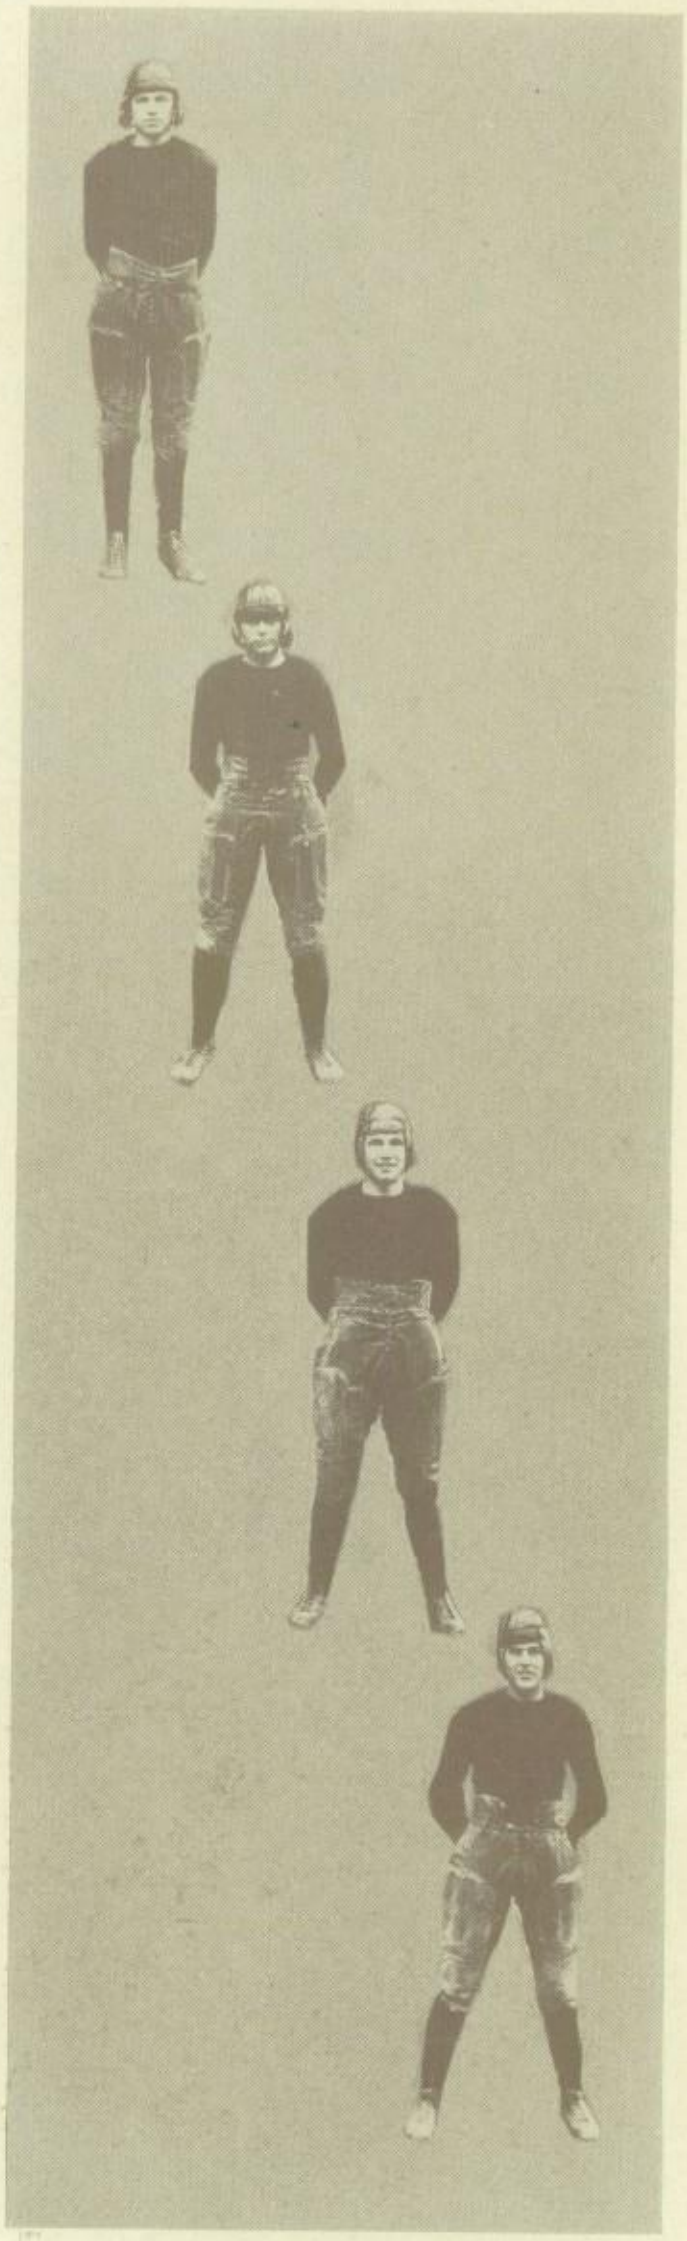
"Farmer" played half-back on offence and backed up the line on defense. He is a hard, accurate blocker and tackler and could always be depended on for a few yards thru the line. The way Cliff handled his defense work was sensational. His correct diagnosing of the play and his hard driving tackles made gains over his position very few. Cliff has another year to play for Moorhead High, and his steady and dependable playing will mean much to next year's team.

EARL MORAN

Earl, though but a freshman earned a regular berth on the team. Beside being a smart ball carrier he could also kick and pass. He improved with each game and with three more years to play should rank with the best turned out by Moorhead High. Earl's blocking often helped his mates to gain, and his tackling was sure and hard. Earl is sure to be heavier next fall and should be a hard man to stop.

BASIL SHIPP

Playing his third year for Moorhead but his first as quarter-back, "Dutch" proved himself to be a capable field general. A good ball carrier, fine defensive man, excellent blocker, Shipp was one of the reasons why our backfield ran so smoothly. His services will be of inestimable worth next year.



ALBERT LERBERG

"Slabe" came up from behind and all-of-a-sudden made necessary quarters to wear a letter. He was called on to fill an end berth most of the time. "Slabe" had a limited amount of weight but more than made up for it by his speed and drive. He developed into a good tackler and a "bear" on the receiving end of passes. Albert graduates this year.

ALLEN MOE

Allen was a hard hitting guard, a good tackler, and a fine blocker on offence. He was handicapped greatly, due to a serious injury which he received early in the season. Allen came back strong and gave the other guards a good run for their positions. He showed signs of being a very promising guard and we expect him to hold a regular line position next fall.

LAWRENCE KNAUF

"Knauf" filled one of the end berths in a capable manner. He made good use of his speed in going down under punts, and of his weight in turning in plays and making hard tackles. He improved steadily and with two more years to play he should win a place in Moorhead's hall of fame.

JOHN HAGEN

John, a new man to us, was a very capable fellow who could be called on at any time to fill either a guard or center berth, as was needed. John was previously a two year letterman at Farmington. He was indeed a great factor in the strength of the forward wall. In spite of his being new here he got into the "Spud" spirit and always showed lots of courage and fight. Through graduation we lose John also; his services will be greatly missed to the team.

VIC ANDERSON

It was due to Vic's ability not only as a player but also as a good leader, that he was elected captain. Vic held down a regular end berth during the whole season and made a specialty of grabbing passes and turning in players. He was a sure tackler and the opposition found plenty of trouble when they came his way. We are glad he had the privilege of being captain of a championship team, and we wish him success in all athletics he enters.

CLAYTON SCHILL

"Tate" was a new member on the squad. He played guard during the season and showed up well. Tate took little from his opponents and always managed to use his drives in getting in to smear up anything that came his way. On offence he was equally good at opening up holes for the backfield. Tate has two more years, so we expect more of him later.

Football Squad

1926 Football Review

AS OUR 1926 football season passes into history, we look back and declare emphatically that it was a marked success. True we lost to Fargo, but we were undefeated and unscored upon in Minnesota, a record that few teams can boast of in the "Gopher" state.

Material from the previous year formed the nucleus around which Coach Hanna built his team. A squad of forty-five men answered the first call to practice, among whom were the familiar faces of Captain Ted Ingersoll, Hub Nelson, Ore Hilde, Ferd Anderson, Dutch Shipp, Vic Anderson, Bill Wagner, Cliff Halmrast, Carl Roberts, and Cy Bielfeldt, all lettermen of the year before. With these veterans and a host of promising new material, prospects looked bright for a strong team.

That these hopes were not groundless was proved by our 39—0 victory over Frazee, in the opening game. The following week saw Valley City take the short end of a 14—0 count in a poorly played game featured by many infractions of the rules by Moorhead. The team received a severe blow after the Valley City game when Captain Ingersoll and Carl Roberts, two of the best tackles seen in high school circles for several years, were forced to drop their studies in order to work. Notwithstanding this setback, the team performed in able style with a revamped lineup, and gave Fergus Falls a 39—0 lacing the following Saturday. A week later, after a little more polishing up of the weak points, the strong Wahpeton team was trounced 19—0.

Next came the game with our old rivals from "across the river." We hoped to duplicate our victory of the year before, but fate decreed otherwise; and we lost a brilliantly played game 7—0. In the face of great odds our boys played a typical Moorhead fighting game and were never beaten until the final whistle had blown. They deserved a world of credit for the splendid fight they displayed against their heavier opponents. On a Moorhead misplay, Fargo scored early in the game but try as they would, they could not cross our goal again, while our efforts were equally in vain. Nearly 2,000 people witnessed this battle, and the rooting and the spirit displayed by both sides was of a fine type.

Undaunted by their first defeat of the season the team played alert ball to humble Crookston 33—0 the following week. This victory was the sweetest of all football victories as Crookston was the only team to defeat us the year before.

Moorhead played her best game of the year to beat Montevideo 23—0. Sweeping end runs, puzzling fakes, and dazzling forward passes completely bewildered the Monte team, and they had a team of real football players that knew the game and could play it. To Moorhead goes the credit of giving Monte her first defeat on her home field in eleven years.

To wind up the season, the boys played equally brilliant ball to administer Detroit Lakes her annual defeat, 26—0.

During the course of the season many new stars were discovered that will help to fill the places left vacant by graduation. Foot-ball enthusiasm is at a high pitch in Moorhead High, and next fall should see a better team than ever representing the Orange and Black.

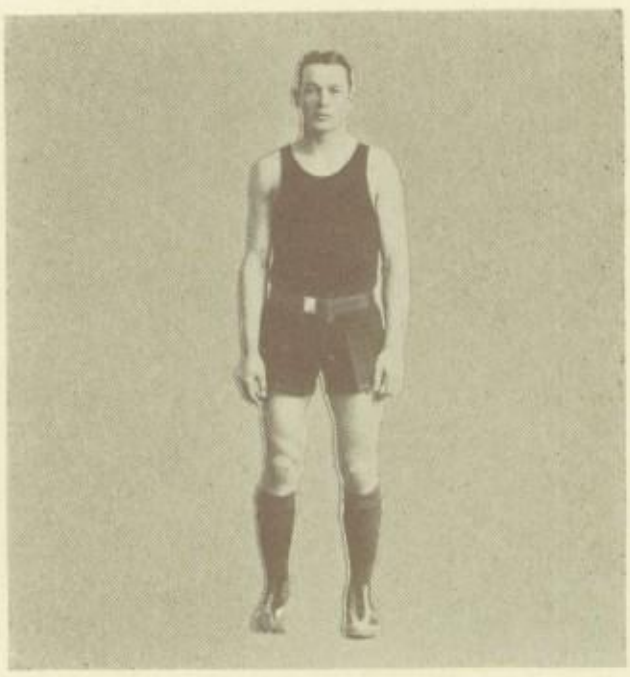
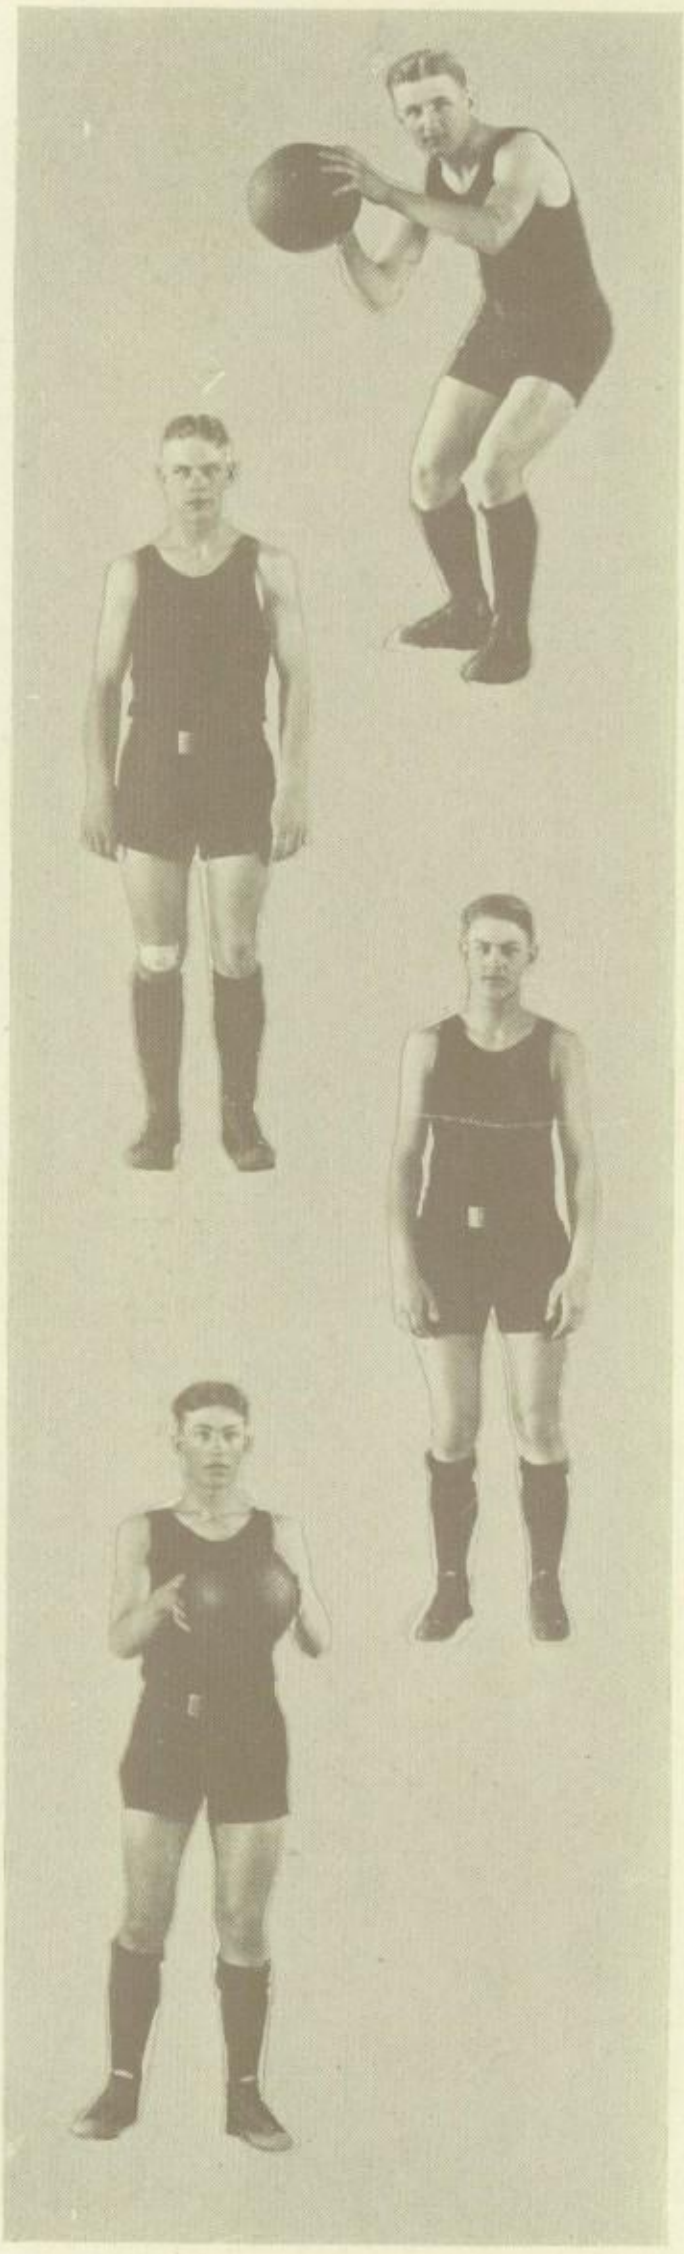
Basket-ball

CY BIELFELDT

Cy was one of the biggest men on the squad and he used his size to a good advantage at a guard position. Cy's inexperience was more than made up for by his grim determination and coolheadedness under fire. Cy proved a capable guard, and marked improvement as the season progressed. We wish that Cy could return and play another year for M. H. S.





EARL MORAN

Earl, though only a freshman, made his letter for the second time. He played guard and performed in great style all of the time. Earl is noted for good passing and wonderful pivoting. His ability as a guard can be best shown by the fact that he was elected on the first All-District and Regional teams. We are glad that Earl has three years left to play for Moorhead High, and he should be one of the best basket-ball players that ever graced an Orange and Black uniform.

LAWRENCE THOMPSON

Thompson was one of the Senior members of the squad. It was his first year on the team, and he played guard. Tommy was always a steady player, and a head of credit goes to him for the wonderful guarding he displayed in the games. Tommy was a very capable mate for Earl and worked in well with the forwards and center. We hope Tom will continue to develop his athletic ability in colege.

JOHN HAGEN

"Jack" was a new fellow on the basket-ball squad. He earned his letter in basket-ball for two years at Farmington, Minn. He was a rangy person, which together with his experience and smooth play, made him valuable. He could be used in any combination and his coolness helped out considerably. "Jack" will be lost thru graduation.

CLIFF HALMRAST

"Farmer" was another letter man to return to the squad. He held up the center position during the entire season and did a wonderful job of it. His fighting spirit helped greatly to keep up the fighting spirit of the team. Cliff always played a good defensive game: his constant rushing the opponents made things look bad for them and his breaking up of what seemed a good play was a great help. Cliff has another year to battle for the Orange and Black and we expect him to do it in great style.

LOUIS GRIFFEE

Louis was a new man on the "Spud" team. He played a forward position and could be depended upon to always play good ball. Louie had plenty of speed and a good eye for the hoop which made him a valuable man. Louie is only a sophomore so we can depend that he will be a big gun next year to help carry the Orange and Black thru a successful season.

OBERT NELSON

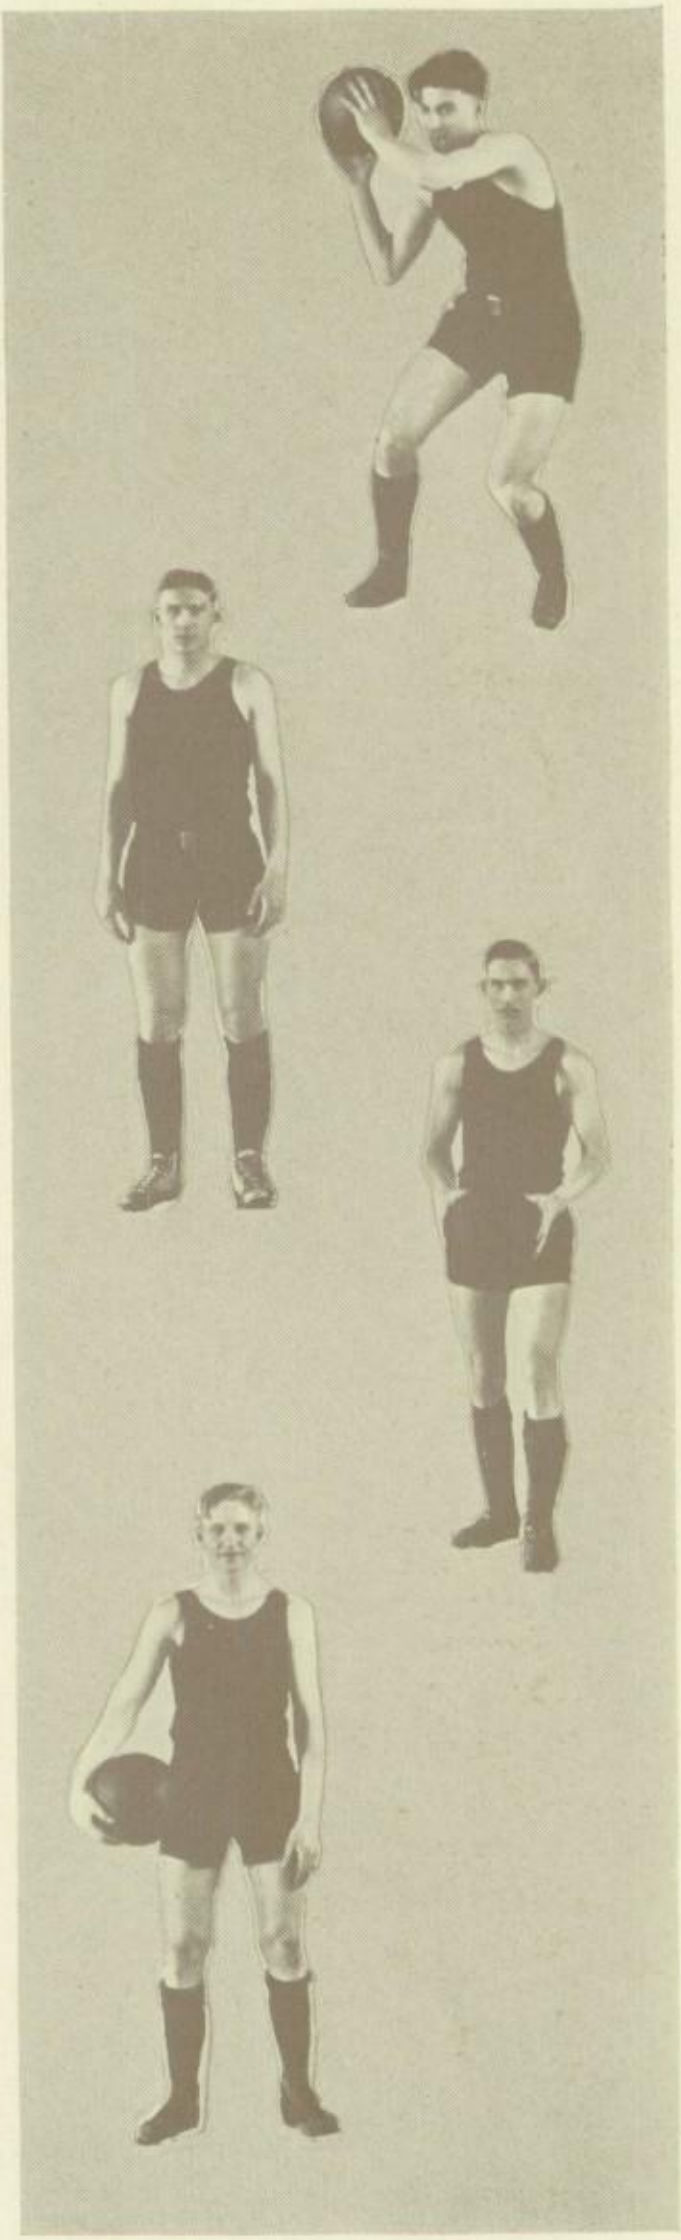
"Ob" was the "big-boy" of the squad. In Ob, Hanna had a man that could both jump and guard, as was needed. He could hold down the center or guard berth equally well and performed in fine style at either place. "Ob" was also a good ball handler, his passes were sure and his knack of getting the ball proved a great help. "Ob" will be back with the team next year and we expect him to land a regular berth and perform in great style.

VIC ANDERSON

This was "Vic's" second year as a letterman for the Spuds, Vic had a good eye for the basket and could always be depended on to score when points were needed. He proved to be not only a good shot but also a clever, speedy and scrappy forward. Vic's ability is well shown by the fact that he made the All-District and Regional teams. We wish Vic were going to be with the Spuds again next year.

FERD ANDERSON

Swede made his basket-ball letter again this year and proved himself an able running mate for Vic. His accurate passing, fine defensive work, and lots of fight made Swede a hard man to play against. Altho not a heavy scorer at the start of the season, he found the basket with regularity as the year drew to a close. Swede graduates in June leaving another place on the team that will be hard to fill.



Basket-ball Review

MOORHEAD High School has just passed another basket-ball season that has been a marked success. At the first of the season Coach Glenn Hanna picked his squad of about fifteen men, and then started to round out a team. Among those picked there were four lettermen of last year's team: Cliff Halmrast, Vic Anderson, Earl Moran, and Swede Anderson.

The boys started their season by beating Detroit Lakes 20–1. This game marked the very strong defensive work of our team. A week later the team was in better playing form and downed the Breckenridge quint 15–9 on our floor. Hawley was our next rival, and our boys defeated them 23–12.

Moorhead met its first defeat at the hands of the Valley City team, taking the short end of a 21–17 score.

The team began to get back into the form it was capable of showing and gave the Fergus Falls team a 22–18 lacing. In the next game we met Detroit Lakes for the second time. This game was played on our own floor, and the "Spuds" won by a 30–13 score.

During the whole season Moorhead had waited for one thing, and that one thing was a "crack at Fargo." Their "wait" was realized the next week. The game was played on the "Midget" court, and it turned out to be nothing less than a "Battle Royal." The "Spuds" emerged victorious getting a 21–20 score.

By displaying a stellar game the Spud quint defeated Hawley 19–14 the following week. The night following the Hawley game our team went to Breckenridge. The Breckenridge team was ready to avenge their defeat handed them at the beginning of the season. And by "sinking their long ones" they succeeded in downing the Spuds 18–27.

Suffering from the loss of their Captain Ore Hilde, they received another setback at the hands of Fergus Falls 13–16. After another week of hard practice the boys were back into form again, and by playing real classy brand of basket-ball the boys downed the St. Cloud Tech to the score of 21–15. This was just one point less than Fargo beat them.

A climax of the season came the following week. It was the game with Fargo again, and this time it was to be played on our own court. This, undoubtedly, was the biggest game of the season, and a world of credit goes to Coach Hanna for the outcome of the game, because it was in this game that he displayed his real basket-ball talent by devising an exceedingly clever stalling game which completely bewildered the Midgets. The Fargo quint met their second defeat from us, this time taking the short end of a 11–10 count.

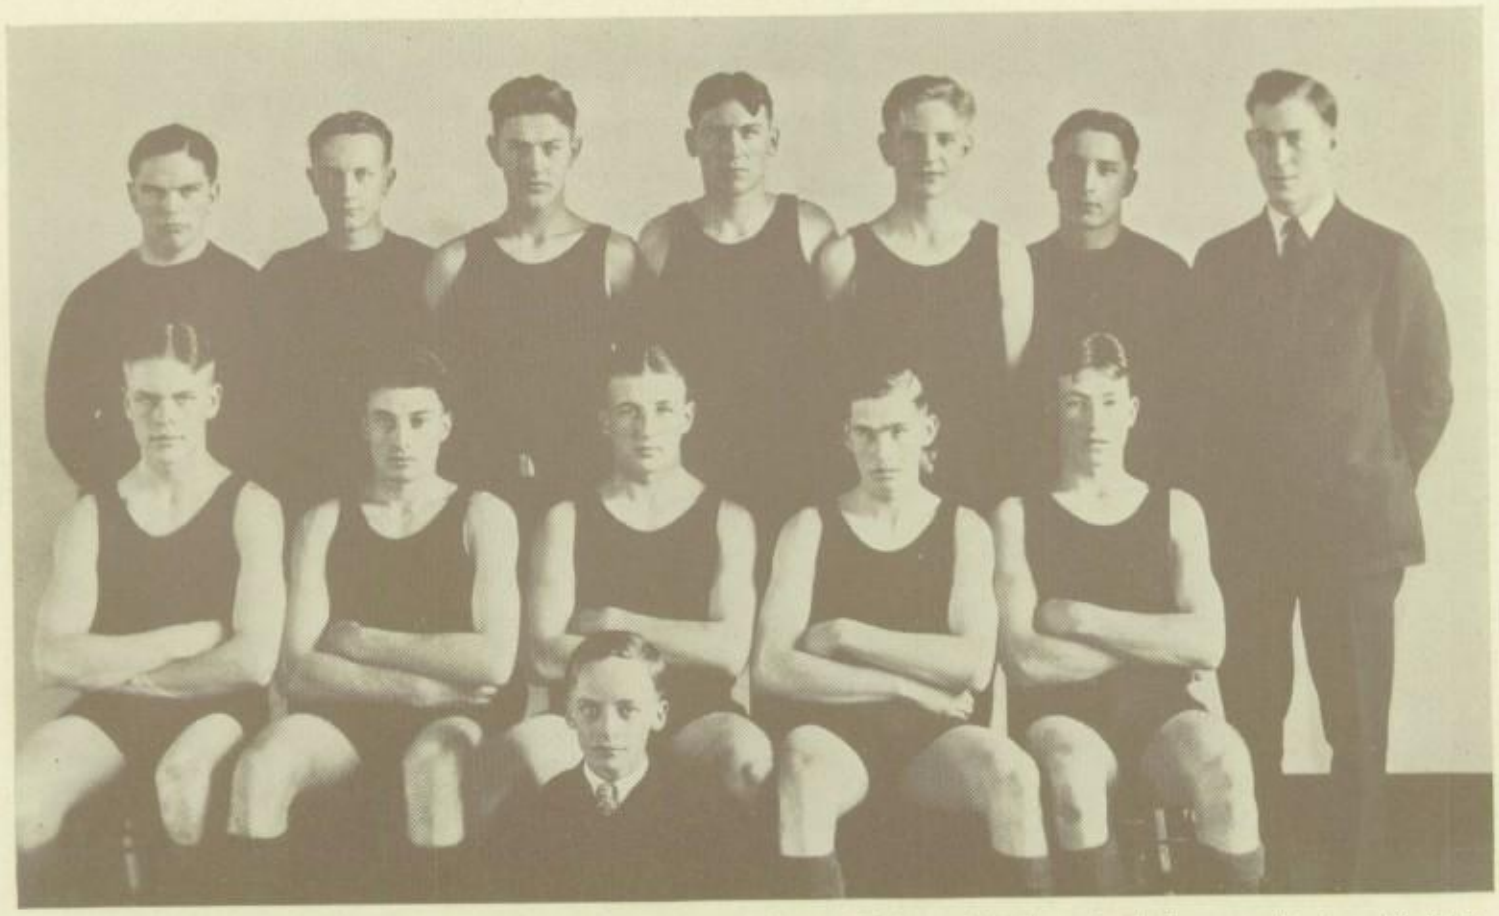
The following week was the District Tournament. By winning four consecutive games in two days the Spuds became champions of District No. 3. In the first game Moorhead beat Hawley in a slow game, the outcome of which was 23–14. In the second game that day the Spuds met the Frazee team. The wonderful passing of the Spuds in the final periods downed them 29–19.

The next morning the Spuds trounced the Parkers 32–12 in the semi-finals, which gave them the right to play Detroit Lakes for the Championship.

The final game was in every way a real thriller. Moorhead fell to a slump the first period, and the Lakers led 8–1. The Spuds came down to earth and the second quarter had them leading 9–8 at half time. From then on they were never behind the Detroit team's score. The game ended with Moorhead as the victors, getting a 27–18 score.

In the Regional meet we played Warren in the first game, and trounced the "Giants of the North" by a score of 34–14. The final game with Benson was the real thrilling game. The final score was 22–15 in our favor.

Two weeks later the boys went to the State Tournament, but lost the first game to Faribault 16–30. Thus a successful season was ended.



Top row: Alan Moe, Robert Freman, John Hagen, Obert Nelson, Ferdinand Anderson, Lester Biefeldt, Coach Hanna.
Second row: Lawrence Thompson, Lewis Griffee, Earl Moran, Victor Anderson, Clifford Halmrast.

LOYALTY SONG

Moorhead High, Moorhead High,
Now we'll sing for Moorhead High,
'Tis the best school, we ever have known.
On the top, to the front, watch us keep our school ahead,
While we build it, and boost it, along.

Chorus:
With a RAH, RAH, RAH,
We cheer our team along,
And help them to win all the games.
Where'er you go, let the people know,
That our High School is booming along,
KEEP IT BOOMING, that our High School is booming along.

In our work, in our play,
In the friends we find each day,
We will strive to be true, fair, and square.
And we'll give all support, that our school is going to need,
To be on top, afront, and ahead.

WE'LL ALWAYS BACK—
(Tune—Doodle Dee Doo)

We'll always back, the Orange and the Black,
Of Moorhead High, Moorhead High.
We love the rest, but what we love best is,
Moorhead High, Moorhead High.
We never quit, we fight to the finish,
We never lose, we're always the winners,
In rain or shine, all of the time,
We'll fight for the Orange and Black.

Inter-class Athletics

MOORHEAD High has been quite fortunate in being able to advance athletics in the school to a point where every one can compete. This has been brought about by inter-class athletics. The different classes have competed against each other in track, basket-ball, and also in baseball.

Each year there are two big tournaments in basket-ball, one for the girls and one for the boys. The winners of these contests are awarded a trophy. In order to be a permanent owner of the trophy a class must win the tourney three consecutive years. This policy was started in the school about three years ago. The girls determine the champion by elimination, and the boys use the percentage system.

Thus far this year the girls have played their tournament. All girls were eligible this year because of no girls' basket-ball. The seniors had six girls who would have been on the first team, and won the championship.

The boys' tournament turned out to be a tie for first place between the Juniors and the Seniors. In the first game of the tourney the Freshmen scared the Seniors and had them beat until the last minute only to have the upper classmen eke out a one point win 9–8. The second game was a battle royal also and the Sophs spilled the dope and beat the Juniors 13–11.

The second night of the tourney was as much of a thriller as the first. The Seniors trounced the Sophs 11–4, and the Juniors beat the Freshmen 11–5. After two defeats the Frosh came back strong and beat the Sophs 12–6. The Junior-Senior game was the class of the tourney. The juniors eked out a close win by a 7–6. In the championship game the Juniors won from the Seniors, 10–7.

Another interesting part of inter-class is the annual Junior-Senior Supremacy. This year the supremacy is to be decided by basket-ball.

Track

Track has been, more or less, a part of Moorhead High School athletics in the past, but never has it been stressed and promoted here as much as is being done by Coach Hanna.

Last year was his first time to handle that line of athletics. The fact that all of his boys won points at the annual meet at Detroit Lakes shows that he was successful.

Under Mr. Hanna's able coaching, track is getting to be more and more recognized in our school. The season of '26 draws the most interest.

A number of boys came out regularly each night and tried out in the various things that they liked best. The events entered by the boys included hurdles, pole vault, shot-put, broad jump, high jump, hurdles, dashes, discus throw, and distant runs.

The boys who made track letters were: Victor Fridlund, hurdles; Cliff Halmrast, pole vault; Ore Hilde, dashes, shot-put, and broad jump; Cy Bielfeldt, distant runs; Bob Freeman, pole vault; George Kall, high jump and pole vault; John Ingersol, discus throw.

During the coming season Coach Hanna, plans a very large schedule. He expects to enter in the track meets at Valley City, Fargo, and Detroit Lakes. There will be three of last year's men back to keep up their work and lots of other good material is promised.

As a school we are certainly glad that this line of athletics has been taken up and we wish to thank Mr. Hanna for his untiring efforts in putting track on a higher level here. We hope to see this sport take its place among the major activities and that Moorhead High School will uphold its good record in it as well as in the other activities.

Mr. Diercks told his chemistry class that the formula for water was H^2 O. The next day when he called upon Hazel Lorimer he received the following answer: "H I J K L M N O."

Mr. Diercks asked: "Where did you hear that?"

Whereupon Hazel replied: "Yesterday you told us the formula was H to O!"

Miss Laramy was trying to make clear to her class the fundamental doctrine of the Declaration of Independence. She gave the boys three buttons each and said: "This one represents life, this liberty, and that'n pursuit of happiness." The next day she called on Orville Hilde to produce the buttons and tell what they represent and Ore replied: "I have only two buttons. Here is life and liberty, and ma sewed the pursuit of happiness on my pants!"

Talent Verses Dumbness

There are heads that are hollow,
There are heads that want to follow;
There are heads that have some brains
But never can break loose the chains.
Some are rusty, some are dusty,
Some abused, some reduced,
And some are easily confused.
Some do look like work of art,
But not a worthwhile thought impart.
So 'tis no fun to be dumb—
'Tis a drawback in the long run.
Woe be unto these eleven.
No such factor exists in the class of "27." —By Violet Anderson.

THAT MOORHEAD-FARGO GAME

'Twas January twenty-eight,
I left my supper on my plate,
When Moorhead High to Fargo went,
For basketball to win intent.

The Fargo team was very good,
O'er Moorhead's team they thought they stood.
Both the teams were probably par,
But Fargo's record we'd surely mar.

Of beating Moorhead they'd no fear,
For this they'd done for many a year.
When both the teams went on the floor,
Oh, how the rooters with might did roar!

Soon Fargo's score had reached sixteen,
And Moorhead High, lucky thirteen.
Our rivals led, the half was played,
But none of us were yet afraid.

After the half we showed our fight.
They tried to score with all their might,
But 'twas no use, for our guards were there;
And to get through they did not dare.

A yell was given to Earl Moran,
When down the floor with ball he ran.
And many thanks were given to "Swede,"
For all his fight and plucky deeds.

Tommy and Griffee their fight did show
When down the floor with ball they'd go.
And to "Farmer" this tribute we pay:
No better center could be found this day.

A prayer went up from little "Mick,"
'Twas answered soon by noble "Vic."
The rooters roared, and roared for more
When for Moorhead he made a score.

The ball was carried from end to end.
Moorhead their basket did best defend.

The whistle blew! Moorhead had won!!
The score of twenty to twenty-one!!!

With Hanna left out this isn't complete,
For much he did to help defeat
A rival who we've fought for years,
And now 've defeated despite their jeers.

—By Lila Davenport.

THE SEVEN STAGES OF LIFE

Only a Freshman,
Caressed and fondled,
Needing continually to be remodeled.

Only a Sophomore,
Toddling alone,
Brightening now its happy home.

Only a Junior,
Trudging to school,
Governed now by sterner rule.

Now a Senior,
Living in dreams,
Full of promise life now seems.

Only one of the Alumni,
Burdened with care,
Silver threads in pitch black hair.

Only a Freshman,
Toddling again,
Growing old and vain.

Only a Mound,
O'ergrown with grass,
Dreams all but realized—
Rest at last!
(Plenty of weeds, but no flowers.)

—By Irene Fitzgerald.

Miss Bunge: (In Mod. Hist.) "Yes, I think we may say that Napoleon knew his onions."

A woodpecker lit on a Freshman's head
And settled down to drill—
He bored away for half an hour,
And then he broke his bill.

Miss Telford: (in assembly) "I don't know the names of all you people who are speaking when you're not supposed to, but I shall begin to call you by the color of your dresses pretty soon."

A Freshman in green took her seat.

OUR SUPERIOR

He walks with firm and steady step,
He seems to give our high school pep.
We hardly dare to watch his eye
For fear he will not pass us by.

We like his lectures every day,
Because he knows just what to say.
Hold your breath! or he'll read your name
For naughty deeds and not for fame.

He certainly executes the rules,
Not by slapping nor informal duels;
He only asks of you to stay
'Till five o'clock to make you pay.

Smooth, clear, and fluent flows his voice
Brains he has of the rarest choice,
Ambition, energy, and good will
Yes, of course, it is Mr. Hill.

—By Violet Anderson.

YE EIGHTH PERIOD

At ten o'clock the bell is rung
And to the assembly we all run,
To hear Mr. Hill in his mannerly way
Say "I have a few announcements today."

So he proceeds with his little game
By reading off a list of names
We all sit back and hold our breath,
For the eighth period's as bad as death.

Then come the names for English four
My heart is as heavy as a door,
For in my test I knew I'd fail.
I first grow red and then grow pale.

At three-thirty-one you see me go
To the study hall for, you know,
This is the class of bright dumbbells
That Mr. Hill likes so well.

—By Gertrude Raer.

WHEN TEACHER GETS CROSS

When teacher gets cross
And starts to boss,
She gets mad and everything else;
I have to be sad
If I try to be glad
But I think oh! she gets these spells.

When teacher gets cross
And starts to boss
That's when the dimples go in;
When teacher gets mad
I'm terribly sad.
She gets mad clear up to her chin.

When teacher gets glad
Then I'm through being sad
'Cause that's when the dimples go out;
When teacher gets happy
I'll make it snappy
And give a great big shout.

—Sylvia Reinertsen

5th Grade

Mildred Briggs: "Will your folks be surprised when you graduate?"

Ted Larson: "No, they've been expecting it for several years."

Mr. Hill: "Let's yell at the Fargo-Mhd. game so we'll raise the roof."

Mr. Roof: "Impossible. I won't be there."

WONDERMENT

I wonder if I'll work tonight,
I really do not know,
My teachers give me all a fright,
If lessons in I'm slow.
I'd like to see a comic show,
But when I think of marks so low,
I wonder if I'll work tonight,
I really do not know.

Loren Ness: "Oh, Oscar, why don't you grow up and wear a big hat like this?"

Oscar Olsgaard: "Oh, I'm no swell head."

Rudolph Christianson (Geometry): "I've got a good idea."

Mr. Helwig: "Better take good care of it. You've got it in a strange place."

SUCH A LIFE

(Introduction)

"The more the merrier," says Moorhead High.
But if you will our school come nigh,
You must be tough or you'll surely die.

I

If you chance to come just a wee bit late,
Say thirty or forty minutes just past eight,
Mr. Hill will be honored your presence to pay
If you'll just visit his office while on your way.
He'll command, not request, you to stay after four
To furnish him company the whole ninth hour.

II

The teachers are all deep in a black plot
To do us their dirtiest, I know not what.
If you study your lessons they'll not notice you,
But sure as you don't then I'll say they do.
No downcast heads or intelligent lies
Will save you then from their scornful eyes.

III

When the bell gives out that soul-rending clang,
Just hold your breath and don't give a "hang"
If the teacher insists on closing her speech
With one long sentence that ends in a screech.
Now listen well for her last high word
Or tomorrow's assignment you will not have heard.

IV

In the hallway your peace is forever gone.
If you stop to say "hie" you're told to move on.
And if you move on, someone says, going past,
"Hold on there, you're going altogether too fast."
How's a guy going to know what to do and not do,
If you're hollered at whatever you do?

V

Of all the trials we're forced to forego,
There's nothing that equals the locker key so.
If your locker is locked, your key you will lose
If you leave it unlocked, your key's of no use.
So listen my children, I'll tell you what's best,
Just do what you please and don't mind the rest.

—Fay Fritch

Irene: "Yes, but I'm trying to find out what she means."

If silence is golden, Vic Anderson is solid brass.

Dearest Lone,

As Cupid wonders o'er the earth,

I hope he "Mrs." you.

Don't forget the good times we've had together and our dear old General Science and all our other classes. I'm sure you'll always think of all the questions I've asked. I hope to be with you next year. Wishing you success and happiness forever, your loving friend—

TO OUR ADVERTISERS

The following business men are worthy of the patronage of all members of Moorhead High School, for by advertising in this book they have shown hearty co-operation and loyal support, and have made possible the publication of the Cho-Kio of 1927.

Dearest Lone,

"When the golden sun is sinking
When your mind from care is free
When of absent friends you're thinking
Won't you think just once of me."

I know this looks terrible but think of the meaning and not the writing. I certainly have had a lot of fun with you during the year 1926-27 and hope I can come back again next year. I wish you much happiness and success

High Positions Awaiting You

IF YOUR PREPARATION IS OF THE RIGHT TYPE

North Dakota's State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts Offers You Two Factors That Are of Primary Importance.

1. IT IS A CLASS A INSTITUTION—This means that its curricula; its equipment of class rooms, laboratories and shops; the professional training of the members of its faculty and its administrative practices all satisfy the most rigorous collegiate standards and that, accordingly, credits made in this institution are given full equivalence in other colleges and universities.
2. ITS CURRICULA LEAD TO UNUSUAL OPPORTUNITIES.—The graduates of this year, completing curricula in agriculture, chemistry, civil, electrical engineering, home economics, mechanical engineering and pharmacy have already been offered positions with large remuneration and excellent fields for advancement. Culture alone is no longer sufficient. More and more the business world requires that culture be combined with skill and this requirement is generally recognized in the curricula of your State College.

Write for a catalog so that you may learn of many other outstanding advantages that are available to you through the North Dakota Agricultural College. You may secure one and also answer to special inquiries, by addressing

Office of the Registrar,
State College Station,

Dear Jane;

I certainly should have enough to write about in your Chic Kid. I will never forget the first time you come out to play with Ruth and I. You certainly were obedient not to go beyond the corner. What is your dadd going to do now when you have passed beyond that stage, Young Lady. I have put mine. in the We sure had fun on our sleping porch and in our clothes closet, apple sauce and the like. Oh yes and our duckling places behind the garage, mud pies and the like. Of all the other numerous things we thought of dancing, roller skating, baseball, Run sheep run and that popular corner of 4th Avenue and Eleventh Street. Last but not least I will never forget the time we fooled your mother on April Fools day by telling her the garage was burning, sure were dumb that time not mentioning all the smart things we did. Did I fall in the ditch of water over by your place when we were out duck your sleds in the spring. ~~I would like~~ I have a sort of feeling I did. I wish I always remember favorites I wish
